Genesys Interoperability Guide

This guide provides system-level information about product availability and interoperability. You can use this information when you are planning to upgrade Genesys software and adding Genesys products.

This information is valid for the Genesys 7.x - 8.x releases to date. For additional details about changing or upgrading Genesys software, you should also review your product's documentation.

> ## Important
> - Genesys recently released a v9 suite that includes products with version 9.0.xxx.xx, 8.5.xxx.xx, and 8.1.xxx.xx. For this document, 9.0 refers to 7-digit versions (9.0.xxx.xx) not the suite.
> - These pages are continually updated to provide current information. More information will be added for Release 8.5+ as additional products become available.
> - Information for 7.0 to 7.5 products that have reached End of Support (EOS) was removed from this document. Contact your Genesys representative if you have a product version that has reached EOS and have any questions about it.

Understanding Information in this Book

The interoperability tables help you determine product availability and interoperability when planning:

- new releases and maintenance releases
- upgrades for your Genesys software
- additions of new Genesys products

For additional details about changing or upgrading Genesys software, you should also review your product's documentation.

Intended Audience

This guide is primarily intended for sales and pre-sales, Genesys partners, System Information administrators, and customers who want to change specific features of their Genesys software. This guide assumes that you have a basic understanding of:

- Computer-Telephony Integration (CTI) concepts, processes, terminology, and applications.

- Network design and operation.

- Your own network configurations.

You should also be familiar with Genesys Management Framework and Genesys products.

										users to handle contact center interactions within Salesforce).

7.x-8.x Interoperable Core Components

Genesys interoperable core components consist of:

- T-Servers
- DB Server
- Management Layer
- Stat Server

These core components are backward compatible between 7.x -8.x releases.

The latest release of these interoperable components may be used as maintenance releases or hot fixes for previous releases. Thus, they are known as maintenance interoperable components.

The Configuration Layer is defined by Configuration Server and Configuration Server Database with the same major release number.

Symbol/Term	Definition
yes	The product/component is compatible with specified version of Configuration Layer.
no	The product/component is not compatible with specified version of Configuration Layer.

7.x - 8.x Interoperable Core Components

Important

- For specific modifications required for the deployment of interoperable components, refer to your product's Release Notes.

- For deployment procedures and configuration instructions, refer to your product's Reference Manual and/or Deployment Guide.

- For important changes in configurable options, statistical values, and template values, refer to your product's Reference Manual and/or Deployment Guide.

Interoperability for Configuration Layer Environment

Check 7.x - 8.x product interoperability with Configuration Layer Environment:

- 7.0 to 7.5 Interoperability with Configuration Layer Environment
- 7.6 Interoperability with Configuration Layer Environment
- 8.0 Interoperability with Configuration Layer Environment
- 8.1 Interoperability with Configuration Layer Environment
